It's Not All Wedded Bliss: Marital Stress Linked to Depression

By Kelly April Tyrrell, courtesy of University of Wisconsin Madison News

A long-term study by UW-Madison researchers shows that people who experience chronic marital stress are less able to savor positive experiences, a hallmark of depression. The findings are important, says study leader Richard Davidson, UW-Madison William James and Vilas Professor of Psychology and Psychiatry, because they could help researchers understand what makes some people more vulnerable to mental and emotional health challenges.

Children 'no less happy in single-parent homes,' study finds

By Jochan Embley, courtesy of The Independent

Researchers from NatCen Social Research found family composition has "no significant effect" on the happiness of children. Rather, it is the quality of relationships at home which are most strongly linked to a child's well-being. The results challenge the popular conception that children in two-parent families are more likely to be stable and content than those raised in "broken" homes.

AFCC 2014 Awards

John E. VanDuzer Distinguished Service Award: Emile R. Kruzick

The John E. VanDuzer Distinguished Service Award recognizes outstanding contributions and achievements by AFCC members. The award is named for the late Justice John E. VanDuzer who served as the first Canadian president of AFCC in 1983. Justice VanDuzer distinguished himself as a tireless advocate for children and families. He initiated the formation of the first integrated federal provincial family court, the Unified Family Court of Hamilton-Wentworth.

The 2014 recipient of the John E. VanDuzer Distinguished Service Award is Justice Emile Kruzick, of the Superior Court of Justice, Toronto, Ontario. Justice Kruzick epitomizes the qualities sought in a recipient of this award, serving families first as a lawyer and then as a judge, keenly aware of the importance of family law and the impact of his role. A highly regarded and respected jurist in Toronto, his remarkably kind, approachable personality makes him a friend to anyone he meets. Justice Kruzick served as AFCC President 2009-10, and has been a supportive champion of the AFCC Ontario Chapter and AFCC.

Stanley Cohen Distinguished Research Award: Rachel Birnbaum

The Stanley Cohen Distinguished Research Award is sponsored by the Oregon Family Institute. The award was created to recognize outstanding research and/or research achievements in the field of family and divorce. The award is named for the late Dr. Stanley Cohen, a founding member of AFCC who served as AFCC Executive Director and co-editor of the Family and Conciliation Courts Review.

The 2014 recipient of the Stanley Cohen Distinguished Research Award is Dr. Rachel Birnbaum, Associate Professor cross-appointed with Childhood & Social Institutions (Interdisciplinary Programs) at King's University College, the University of Western Ontario, in London, Ontario. Her research focuses on interdisciplinary collaboration with academic scholars in sociology, psychology, law, social work and medicine. Dr. Birnbaum has been the principal investigator and co-investigator in many peer-reviewed research projects since 2003 and is funded by the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC); the Canadian Institute of Health Research, Ottawa, Canada (CIHR). Her research has spanned over 25 years, focusing on children's participation in family breakdown, child legal representation, access to justice and working with high conflict separated families. She has published and co-authored over 50 articles, chapters and books on these topics.

Irwin Cantor Innovative Program Award: Legal Aid of Western Ohio

The Irwin Cantor Innovative Program Award was created to recognize innovative court-connected or court-related programs created by a member of the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts. The award is named for the late Hon. Irwin Cantor, former AFCC President from Maricopa County (Phoenix) Arizona.

The 2014 recipient of the Irwin Cantor Innovative Program Award is Legal Aid of Western Ohio, accepted by Pamela Hayman-Weaner, Esq. Legal Aid provides services to low income individuals, through donations and state, federal and local funds. In the past several years, Legal Aid has experienced budget reductions and a substantial increase in the number of counties served, from a small number to 32 throughout western Ohio. Despite these challenges, Legal Aid of Western Ohio has continued to identify ways to deliver services, including traveling pro se clinics, Family Justice Centers (providing services in family violence matters) and free legal services (both unbundled and complete representation) through bar association volunteers.

Meyer Elkin Essay Award: Connie J.A. Beck

The Meyer Elkin Essay Award is presented to the author(s) of the article judged as the best of those published in Family Court Review for each volume. The winner is selected by the Family Court Review editorial staff.

The 2014 recipient of the Meyer Elkin Essay Award is Dr. Connie J.A. Beck. Dr. Beck is being recognized for her work as special issue editor of the Special 50th Anniversary Issue of Family Court Review (January 2013). Dr. Beck is an Associate Professor in the Psychology, Policy and Law Program at the University of Arizona. The recognition of Dr. Beck's work as a special issue editor is a departure from presenting the award to an article author, acknowledging the significant historical value of the 50th Anniversary Issue.

President's Award: Gabrielle Davis and Loretta Frederick

The AFCC President's Award is awarded annually to an AFCC member who has provided exemplary service to the association, as selected by the AFCC President. This year's co-recipients are Loretta Frederick, Esq., (Senior Policy Advisor) and Gabrielle Davis, Esq., (Legal and Policy Advisor) of the Battered Women's Justice Project, a national domestic violence resource center in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Ms. Frederick and Ms. Davis have immersed themselves in AFCC, attending and presenting at conferences, serving on task forces and contributing to AFCC initiatives and publications. They have been responsible for building important bridges between AFCC and the domestic violence advocacy community. Together they lead the Battered Women's Justice Project's Custody Initiative to enhance safety by ensuring that family court decision-making accounts for the nature and effects of domestic violence. They also serve on the AFCC-NCJFCJ Task Force on Child Custody Evaluations and Domestic Violence.

Special Commendation: William Jones

AFCC Special Commendations are presented on special occasions to recognize outstanding contributions to children and families. Special Commendations have been presented for contributions such as the Sesame Workshop program, Little Children, Big Challenges: Divorce. This year, AFCC presents a Special Commendation to Hon. William Jones, a former Trustee of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, a former AFCC member and a liaison between AFCC and the NCJFCJ. Judge Jones is being recognized for his efforts in developing and nurturing the collaborative relationship between AFCC and the Family Violence Department of NCJFCJ that resulted in the Wingspread Conference on Domestic Violence and Family Courts and ongoing partnership between the organizations.
